Make decisions based on user research

Research will show you what users truly need.

Instead of saying:
I think a user needs this.

Say:
The research shows that users need this.